Product Details

This glove is designed to give you a high level of chemical protection in a work environment. We've double dipped this glove for added chemical and abrasion resistance, offering you better protection than many of the other gloves on the market.

The lining of the glove is brushed cotton, so even while the exterior of the glove is tough, the interior is comfortable. That means you can wear the glove for longer periods without experiencing any annoying friction or discomfort.

The glove features a sandy palm, giving you a better grip. The longer style of this glove also protects your wrist and forearm, making it a practical option for many businesses.

If you're after a decent glove for protecting your hands against chemicals, then this is a great option.
