Product Details

Our 100% sleeve covers the whole of the forearm. It's made from a thick cotton loop, which enables it to be used in low to moderate heat situations. That makes it excellent for baking or manufacturing where there is a risk of getting burned.

The sleeve has a knit wrist at one end and elastic at the other end to keep it high above the elbow. It is fully reversible and ambidextrous, making it comfortable to wear and versatile.

These sleeves are also used to protect workers in timber yards or people working with fibreglass where it is possible to scratch or injure the forearm. The beauty of these sleeves is that being 100% cotton, they breathe, absorb sweat and are washable.

If you're after some decent sleeves for your workplace, then our Armour Loop Pile Cotton Terry Knit Sleeve is a great option.
